

Questback is searching for talent in six countries

Questback, a leading software supplier in the Nordics for experience management, is seeking talent in all of northern Europe, as part of being able to drive development towards the Nordic region as well as new markets. The company has since it's listing on Euronext Growth in August 2021 actively pursued an agenda for organic growth and opened up for acquisitions of companies in the same industry.

– We are looking for talents with the right experience and skills as part of further developing the business and taking the next steps in reaching new markets in Europe. In the coming 2-3 years we are planning to recruit at least 20-25 new employees a year, says Saeid Mirzaie, CEO at Questback.

So far this year, the company has recruited 14 new talents and in the last week alone, 10 new positions focusing mainly on sales and product have been announced. Questback is among other positions searching for a Head of New Sales to Germany and a Head of Product to Oslo.

Several strong profiles have joined the company

Several of the teams have been strengthened with new employees after the summer. Sakarias Fasth is one of them and was recruited from Netigate, where he has been active as an Analyst, Product Owner and Business Development Manager with a focus on feedback solutions. Sakarias is now part of Questback's operational management team in the role of Chief Business Development Officer.

– The industry is in a very exciting phase where the interest is constantly growing in the market. The potential is enormous in the Nordic region and not least Europe. We really only set the limits ourselves for how fast we want to drive development, says Sakarias Fasth.

Two other top recruitments are Christian Egger for the role as Vice President of New Acquisition who was recruited from the SaaS-industry where he previously formed and grew sales teams in and outside the Nordics. And Adnan Spahic, IT Operation Manager, based in Oslo with a background at KulturIT and Accenture.

Questback is a leading provider of SaaS solutions for employee and customer feedback. The company was founded in 2000 and was listed in August 2021 on the Euronext Growth exchange in Oslo. Find out more about Questback at Questback.com.
